AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS

GRAIN FEEDS FOR

THE LAYING HENS

The feeder must use his own judgment in deciding how much grain to give the hens, as the amount of food which they will eat varies with different seasons of the year. They will eat more food in the spring while laying than in the summer and fall when laying fewer eggs. Experiments in the poultry division of the United States department of agriculture show:

A fair general estimate is to feed about one quart of scratch grains and an equal weight of mash (about one and one-half quarts) daily to 12 hens of the general purpose breeds, such as Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds or Wyandottes or to 16 hens of the smaller or egg breeds. This would be about seven and one-half pounds each of scratch grains and of mash daily to 100 Leghorns and about nine and one-half pounds to each of 100 general-purpose fowls.

If hens have access to large yards containing green feed, a general-purpose hen will eat about 5 pounds of feed in a year, and a Leghorn will eat about 35 pounds in addition to the green stuff consumed.

Old hens require a much larger amount of feed of all kinds than do pullets to produce a dozen eggs.

PIGEONS AS A SIDE LINE.

Many people can keep pigeons successfully as a side issue, although it requires constant oversight and careful attention to details. The greatest difficulties confronting the successful raising of pigeons seem to be in getting good breeding stock and finding a good market for the product of a small flock, specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture say.

Pigeons are a profitable source of income on general farms where they may get much of their feed from the fields, provided there are no hawks, owls and cats is not large. They can also be raised successfully on farms where they are closely confined, provided the accounts can be marketed to good advantage.

Good breeding stock is one of the prime essentials of success in squab raising. It is advisable to buy pigeons from reliable breeders, if possible, from those who guarantee their product. Many failures in squab raising have been due to poor stock, because the prospective producer bought old pigeons past their period of usefulness, or a surplus of male birds. Both the age and the sex of pigeons are difficult to determine by casual observation, which forces the buyer to depend largely on the seller's word. It is advisable either to buy mated pigeons which are from one to three years old or to get young birds six to eight weeks old and mate them at the proper time. Pigeons are most valuable as squab producers when from two to six years of age, although many will breed until about eight years old. Small varieties mate and breed at five to six months, the larger ones at eight to nine months.

The young pigeons are usually removed from the breeding pen and put into a separate pen after they are able to fly about and pick up their own food. A catching net or bag made of large mesh cotton netting, with the mouth or top about inches in diameter, is very useful for catching the young. Squabs hatched in April, May and June make the best breeders, while their value on the market is comparatively low at that time of the year.

MUST NOT CROWD GROWING CHICKS IN NIGHT QUARTERS

Growing chicks must not be confined to crowded quarters at night. If they are, they will become overheated and this, in turn will lead to the development of colds, of which it is very difficult to rid the flock and which may be carried along through the summer and fall, causing a serious outbreak of colds in the laying season.

ROCKS THE FOLLOWING WINTER.

How can one tell whether or not the chickens have enough room? One of the best indications is the condition of the plumage. If the plumage is bright and clean it is a good sign that the birds are doing well and have room enough. If the plumage is soiled by droppings, it is an indication that there is not room enough for all of them on the roosts, and the extra birds must be taken out. If all can and room on the roosts comfortably and if the house is well ventilated, the quarters are not crowded and the youngsters should do well.

CONVERT BRUSH INTO PASTURE LAND

There are many hundreds of thousands of acres of land grown up in brush that should be in permanent pasture. Most farms all over the country have some such acres. With labor as high as it is at present, many farmers figure that they cannot afford to clear brush land for pasture, but the United States Department of Agriculture points out that the labor employed on practically any farm can be utilized to clear from one to a few acres of brush land every year at times when regular farm work cannot be done. The brush can be cleared away at any time, of course, and after it is cleared the ground may be plowed at intervals when the tilled fields are too wet for plowing. Every acre of land cleared and put in permanent pasture means an investment that will pay dividends through a lifetime. The kinds of grass to sow vary with the locality. The Department of Agriculture has conducted extensive investigations to determine the best methods of making permanent pastures in the various sections of the country. Literature and other information on the subject may be had by writing the department.

AUCTIONS

WITTINGTONS Auctioneers

HEAD OF CATTLE AT AUCTION

on the New London County Fair Grounds

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 8, 1920, at 9 a. m.

Having sold one of my farms and not being able to get help, I shall sell my entire dairy herd of Reg. Ayrshire cows. My cattle have won a large number of prizes at the fairs for many years. The herd consists of 4 bulls, 1 milking cow and heifers, the balance being 2-year-olds, yearlings and calves. This herd is headed by Reg. Ayrshire Peter Rose, a time type for dairy bull. His sire, bred by Peter Rose, was an imported bull with Advance Reg. heading. His dam was a thoroughbred White Rose Imp., with 3 A. I. records.

One yearling bull, a downright good individual of good type, bred by Monarch of Mansfield at Storrs, out of Stella of Mansfield, with 2 A. I. records, now 14 years old and still in the color. Her sire, bred by Peter Rose, was a time type for dairy bull. His sire, bred by Peter Rose, was an imported bull with Advance Reg. heading. His dam was a thoroughbred White Rose Imp., with 3 A. I. records.

This is the fourth annual auction at the Fair Grounds. As my Reg. Ayrshire have done, I shall try and have a good honest sale for the high dollar. Come to the best county fair in New England; 100 head of Ayrshire cattle on the grounds last year. Catalogues at sale.

At the close of this sale, A. C. Williams of Lebanon, will sell 3 standard bred cows, 3 and 4 years old.

GALES FERRY

The passing of Coroner Franklin H. Brown at Norwich at his summer home here, early Saturday afternoon last, removed one of the well known and respected summer residents. Coming here with Mrs. Brown about 25 years ago to spend the summer months, his love and interest in his home here, and in the village of Gales Ferry grew very dear to him. His familiar figure will be missed in this place where he was so courteous and kind to a large circle of friends, who were greatly saddened at his passing.

At the Sunday morning service in the M. E. church, Rev. J. W. Carter of the moraine service at the submarine base, suggested for Rev. G. D. Wright, who has been ill the past week with an acute attack of bronchitis. Rev. Mr. Carter spoke on the Little Work of Moses. At the Epworth League evening service at 7 o'clock Mrs. Allen Shaw Bush was the leader with the topic, The Beauties and Wonders of God's World.

A member of the Girl Scouts, No. 4 of the Central Baptist church, Norwich, who are in camp at Allyn's Point, were in attendance at the morning service, at the M. E. church Sunday, with their captain, Miss Kilborn.

The usual dance at the Country clubhouse was enjoyed by the young people Saturday evening. An orchestra from the submarine base furnished the music.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Lawson returned last week from their honeymoon trip to Flanders Island and other shore resorts in Mr. Lawson's power boat and are at his home in the village.

A birthday party was given little Barbara Irwin Saturday afternoon, at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Applin, where she is spending the summer, with her mother, Mrs. Donald Irwin. It was the occasion of her fifth birthday anniversary. Six little girls, with Miss Barbara, were entertained. The Misses Mary and Louise Jones, Lenora and Mildred Weideman, with Enid Latimer. Refreshments with ice cream were served.

The proposed lot to be given by Chas. H. Brown of Norwich to the Library Association for a building site, was surveyed by civil engineers from New London last week preliminary to the passing of the deed to the association.

The Community Fair held last week at the Gales Ferry Country Club house netted the club about $70 in addition to the several other community interests represented. The management has expressed appreciation for the efforts of all who helped make it a success.

The annual election of officers for the Country club occurs next Saturday evening at the club house at 7:30 o'clock.

Malcolm Burton of Aurora, N. Y., who has been spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham, left Monday morning for Boston, Mass.

Miss Helen R. Buckingham of New York city, who has been the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham, left Friday to visit relatives in Norwich.

Mrs. Lotta Bushman of Springfield, Mass., was the week-end visitor at the home of Mrs. Emma Bennett. Her young son, Douglas Cushman, who has been spending two weeks at the home of Mrs. Bennett, returned home with his mother, Mr. and Mrs. Allyn J. Perkins with their sons, Robert and Kenneth, of Groton, were visitors at the home of Mr. Perkins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon L. Perkins, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Miller of Boston were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Miller at their home, north of the village. Upon their return to Boston Saturday Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Miller and son Paul accompanied them to Boston for a visit.

Mrs. L. L. Varney of Boston, who has been a visitor of Mrs. Otis Winchester at her home in Norwich, was a visitor at Mrs. Manchester's summer home at Perkins place, here, on Thursday, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Winchester, also of Norwich.

Mrs. John Tweedley, with her daughters, Elice and Stella, of Sayville, N. Y., are spending some days with Mrs. Tweedley's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur O. Faford.

Mrs. Monett Lawson and daughter, Virginia Elizabeth of the Long Cove district visited Mrs. Lawson's cousin, Mrs. Carroll Spicer, at Brier Hill, Groton, recently.

EAGLEVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman E. Marsh and family have been entertaining Mrs. Jessie Marsh of North Woodstock and Mrs. Frank E. Snow and two children of Columbus, O.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sweet and Mrs. Samuel Kearns of Manchester recently visited Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Marsh.

The community is saddened by the death of James H. King, a lifelong resident of this place and a most excellent neighbor.

The Shaw family has moved to Vernon.

Horace McKinney and family were Wellington visitors recently.

Bede cottage, the home of "Adam Bede" in Derbyshire, England, has been sold at auction. It is said that the building used as a workshop by Adam and Seth Bede is still attached to the cottage.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupify, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. There can be no danger in the use of Castoria if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher as it contains no opiates or narcotics of any kind.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Let's Think It Over.

There is such a thing as saying too much on any subject, and the "grand-stand" talker sooner or later becomes a bore. The truth is always welcomed, and the truth reiterated and confirmed is more than welcome—it reaches your innermost soul.

Fletcher's Castoria is all its advertising has claimed for it. Scrutinized by the microscope of public opinion and used for over thirty years it stands without a peer in the hearts of thoughtful, cautious, discerning Mothers. And once used, mother love—there is no substitute for mother love—will scorn to try a "substitute" or a "just-as-good".

Masquerading under many names drugs that are injurious to the tender babe have found their way into some households, but the light of experience soon casts them out. Are they cast out before it is too late?
